Ukraine's Heroism

By Dr. Jim Haas

We've seen this war before. In 1938, Hitler annexed Austria and much of Czechoslovakia, and a year later Nazi army, navy, and air forces launched a vicious assault on Poland. Hitler's rationale was that German-speaking people in the first two of those countries should be part of the Third Reich and that Germany needed Poland for Lebensraum—"elbow room" to expand.

In 2014, Putin annexed the Crimea, a strategic peninsula in southern Ukraine with a major Black Sea naval base and ports. As with Czechoslovakia, Putin's excuse was that many Crimean residents were Russian speakers. Now, like Poland, comes the vicious assault on Ukraine with Putin claiming Russia and Ukraine share a common culture and should be one country.

Putin is trying to rebuild the old Soviet Union that broke apart in the early 1990s (when 92% of Ukrainians voted to become an independent democracy), an event he has called "the greatest geopolitical catastrophe of the century." Really? Worse than two World Wars that killed tens of millions (with the USSR having the most casualties)? Worse than the global Great Depression that sunk hundreds of millions into poverty? Putin values power more than human lives and welfare.

Russia is a second-rate power with nuclear weapons but an economy smaller than California's. Part of the reason is that Putin and other oligarchs have made themselves fabulously rich at the Russian people's expense. Still, Putin wants more. He is an enemy of his own people as well as of democracy.

Meanwhile, Ukrainian soldiers and civilians have been fighting heroically to save their country led by their unlikely but courageous president Volodymyr Zelenskyy (pictured), a 44-year-old popular former TV comedian and movie actor elected in 2019 with 73 % of the vote. Targeted by Putin's assassination squads, Zelenskyy declined a U.S. offer to evacuate him, saying "I need ammunition, not a ride." He's an inspiration to his people and to democrats everywhere.

The fight to save Ukrainian democracy has many heroes, among them President Biden who has done a masterful job of coordinating intense financial pressure on Russia and on Putin's rich friends and supporters. Biden, other NATO and European Union leaders, and heads of Japan and other influential nations have largely cut off Russia's access to the global banking system resulting in the ruble losing value and the Russian stock market crashing so badly that it closed last week and then extended the closing into this week.

Germany shut down the costly Nord Stream 2 natural gas pipeline from Russia depriving its Russian backers of a hefty income stream (pun intended). More than 40 oligarchs, including Putin, have been personally sanctioned with their assets frozen and their ability to travel severely limited. A $120 million super yacht belonging to a sanctioned oligarch was seized by French customs last week and another Russian super yacht was prevented from leaving dock in Germany. Even famously neutral Switzerland with its secret bank accounts has joined the international effort to squeeze Putin and his inner circle.

Russian commercial and private aircraft can no longer fly over Europe, North America, and other airspaces. Major corporations have shut down their Russia operations, from BP, Russia's largest foreign investor, to Exxon, Ford, Toyota, Nike, Apple, Boeing, Airbus, Mastercard, Visa, and many others. Russia is being economically isolated.

Putin has long tried to weaken NATO and has especially objected to Ukraine possibly joining. Putin's pal, our disgraced former president, even threatened U.S. withdrawal. How ironic that by invading a neighbor that posed no threat, Putin has made NATO, the EU, and their allies stronger than ever. The war is Putin's folly.

AG Schmidt Urges Federal Trade Commission to Create Robust Rule Outlawing Scams

TOPEKA – The Federal Trade Commission should adopt a national rule to target impersonation scams, giving states an additional tool in their consumer protection arsenal, Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt said today.

Schmidt joined a bipartisan coalition of 49 state and territory attorneys general in sending a comment letter to the FTC, raising concerns about the plethora of impersonation scams that create problems for consumers, small businesses, and charities in their states. Currently there is no specific national rule outlawing these fraudulent acts.

As illustrated in the letter, impersonation scams take on many forms:

Impersonation of government entities: Fraudsters claim to be from or affiliated with a government agency to persuade victims of the urgency to provide payment to obtain licensing or certificates in document preparation or regulatory compliance scams.

Business impersonation: Fraudsters claim to be working directly for an actual business or as a third party endorsed by the business. Common examples include tech scams in which the imposters claim they are contacting the victim on behalf of companies such as Microsoft or Apple to assist with a ransomware or technology issue.

Person-to-person deceptions: Grandparent scams, romance scams and others use personal information to make a connection with victims. Whether claiming a grandchild is in urgent need of money or creating a fake profile to gain the trust of someone on a social media or dating site, these impersonation scams account for thousands of complaints to attorneys general each year.

Though the methods may vary, impersonation scams cause injury to consumers who lose money, drain resources from regulators tasked with protecting the public, and cause confusion and loss of trust in government agencies and services.

The attorneys general recommended a robust national standard outlawing impersonation scams that:

- Deters bad actors and reduces consumer harm.

- Provides needed clarity on what conduct constitutes impersonation, since government and business impersonation scams can range from overt pretense to misleading subtlety.

- Deprives bad actors of the excuse that they were allegedly not aware their activities were illegal in some jurisdictions as opposed to others.

- Provides more opportunities for the states to collaborate with the FTC on multistate enforcement actions against imposter scammers.

- Allows states to enforce their own standards, free of any preemption by a federal rule.

The attorneys general asked the FTC to publish additional consumer and business education materials to help prevent consumers from becoming victims of impersonation fraud. These efforts must serve as a complement to a strong regulation with a robust enforcement scheme, not as an alternative.

Governor Kelly Announces February Total Tax Collections Continue to Exceed Estimates

TOPEKA – Governor Laura Kelly today announced that total tax collections for February were $502.5 million. That is $18.7 million, or 3.9%, more than the February estimate. Those collections are also $46.6 million, or 10.2%, more than February 2021.

“My administration has taken steps to restore the Kansas economy, and that fiscal responsibility has paved the way to provide direct tax relief to Kansans,” Governor Laura Kelly said. “I urge the Legislature to work together to send me a clean bill eliminating the state’s tax on food immediately, so that we can put this money back into the pockets of Kansas taxpayers.”

Individual income tax collections were $183.4 million in February. That is $6.6 million, or 3.5%, below the estimate. However, it is important to note that income tax refunds are being issued much quicker than in prior years. There have been 15,000 more refunds sent out in February 2022 compared to February 2021. The increase in refunds total $21.0 million more paid out in February compared to the same month of 2021.

“The positive trend in tax receipts continues with all of the major tax types, individual income tax, corporate income tax, retailer’s sales tax, and compensating use tax, performing well. But for the larger number of refunds issued in February, individual income tax receipts also would have surpassed the February estimate,” said Secretary of Revenue Mark Burghart. “We are pleased to be able to get individual income tax refunds paid more quickly and into the accounts of taxpayers.”

So far, nearly 281,000 refunds, totaling $147.0 million, have been paid out this filing season. Refunds for electronically filed returns can be expected to be deposited in taxpayers’ bank accounts in 4-7 days, with some deposits occurring in as little as three days.

Corporate income tax collections were $23.4 million, which is $12.4 million, or 112.8%, more than the February 2022 estimate. Those collections are $15.2 million, or 186.3% more than February 2021, reflecting substantial corporate profits.

Retail sales tax collections were $195.2 million, which is $5.2 million, or 2.8% more than the estimate. Those collections are also $16.0 million, or 8.9%, greater than February 2021. Compensating use tax collections were $59.4 million, which is $4.4 million, or 8.0%, more than the estimate. Those collections were $20.7 million, or 53.7%, more than February 2021.

SENATE NEWS

By Sen. Pat Pettey

We are halfway through the regular legislative session. The Senate spent two days on the floor this past week working almost 40 pieces of legislation, all of which received the constitutional majority required to pass. These bills now move on to the House for consideration. I will highlight some of the major pieces of legislation we addressed this week later in this newsletter.

Moving forward, the Senate can only consider legislation that has either been passed by the House, or has already been introduced in – or re-referred to – an exempt Senate committee. These committees are Assessment & Taxation, Federal & State Affairs, and Ways & Means. Legislators will take a short break and return to work on Tuesday, March 1, when they will begin working on House bills in committees.

With little time left in the session, I encourage you to contact me with any concerns or questions you have about bills or committee meetings. Feel free to contact me at 785-296-7375 or pat.pettey@senate.ks.gov.

MAJOR LEGISLATION THIS WEEK

Last year, the Legislature passed the “Energy Choice Act,” a law that prohibits cities from banning specific types of energy such as natural gas. SB 493, which passed the Senate by a vote of 27 to 13, builds on that foundation by prohibiting cities and counties from regulating plastic and other containers designed for the consumption, transportation, or protection of merchandise, food, or beverages. While plastic bag bans do come up in conversations about ways to reduce pollution and address climate change, no cities in Kansas have banned the use of plastic bags or even imposed a tax or surcharge on them. Just like the Energy Choice Act, SB 493 is a paternalistic restriction of local control that moves our state in the wrong direction.

As I’ll discuss later in this newsletter, legislation is often considered based on the personal and professional interests of legislators. One example of this from this week is SB 373, which appropriates $500,000 to the University of Kansas Medical Center’s Midwest Stem Cell Therapy Center to conduct COVID-19 clinical trials. Senator Mike Thompson (R - Shawnee) is a member of the center’s advisory board and introduced the legislation after it was line-item vetoed out of last year’s budget by Governor Kelly. I voted NO; KU Med has not requested this funding (which ironically echoes the context of the Midwest Stem Cell Therapy Center’s creation in 2013) and they don’t have a clinical trial planned.

K-State also had skin in the game in legislation addressed this week with SB 441. This bill mandates specific reporting for commercial or research facilities. K-State provided opponent testimony to this bill due to the increased regulatory burden it would cause, unclear and inconsistent definitions in the bill, unclear guidance and reporting, and duplication of efforts, as well as the risk for increased noncompliance and decreased public trust.

The Senate was split in its support for the bill, which narrowly passed by a vote of 21 to 19. I voted NO because it is unnecessary and gives Kansans the false impression that these labs are dangerous, which creates opportunities for insidious public health misinformation to grow and spread.

SB 161 was introduced at the request of Amazon and FedEx, and led to much debate about the future of Kansas, automation’s impact on jobs, and local control. Amazon and FedEx have delivery robot programs with mixed reviews in other states that they’d like to expand to Kansas. Opponent testimony suggested that these delivery robots would jeopardize the combined 11,000+ Amazon and FedEx jobs in Kansas, and there were many questions about local control on the Senate floor. Given the breadth of concern expressed, I voted to send the bill back to committee to work out the issues. That motion failed, and the bill passed by a vote of 24 to 15. I voted NO.

I also voted NO on SB 395, which prohibits Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks employees from conducting surveillance on private property unless authorized by a warrant, court order, subpoena, or the US Constitution. The exception to this law is when KDWP employees are attempting to locate and retrieve a missing person. The bill that was introduced on the floor was a compromise reached between proponents and the Department of Parks and Wildlife, but an amendment introduced by Senator Richard Hilderbrand reverted it to its original, non-compromise form.

JUDICIARY WEEK

Thirteen of the thirty-five bills on general orders this week originated from the Senate Committee on Judiciary, which is chaired by Senator Kellie Warren (R - Leawood), who is running for Attorney General this year.

One of the most controversial bills she carried was SB 150, which was introduced at the request of the Kansas Chamber and limits lawsuit and legal services advertising practices. A similar bill passed in West Virginia was ruled unconstitutional on First Amendment grounds, and it's yet another example of the Legislature inserting itself into processes that are already established under the Kansas Constitution, which gives the judicial branch the power to regulate the legal profession.

That said, I supported many of the Judiciary bills we debated this week, which ranged from requiring registration as a sex offender by those who share child pornography to criminalizing "porch pirates" who steal Amazon packages from your home. A lot of those bills happen to pad a statewide political candidate's "tough on crime" bona fides, and there's a lot to be said for the bills she did not find worthy of discussion by her committee. Sheldon's Law, criminal justice reform, racial justice commission recommendations, and protections for domestic violence and child sex abuse survivors were left on the table this year, which is unfortunate for those of us who strive for a more equitable and just Kansas.

GOVERNOR LAURA KELLY ANNOUNCES MORE THAN $5 MILLION TO IMPROVE BRIDGE PROJECTS

Governor Laura Kelly today announced 29 bridge projects across Kansas will receive more than $5 million as part of the Kansas Local Bridge Improvement Program (KLBIP). The KLBIP is a state-local partnership initiative that provides funds to replace or rehabilitate locally-owned deficient bridges to improve the Kansas infrastructure.

The KLBIP is a state-local partnership initiative included in the Kelly Administration's bipartisan, 10-year Eisenhower Transportation Legacy Program, or IKE. The Kelly administration reinstated KLBIP in 2019 to assist cities and counties by providing up to $150,000 toward the replacement or rehabilitation of a bridge on the local roadway system. For this recent round of KLBIP selections, a total of 62 applications were received with requests for $10.5 million in funds.

There are approximately 19,300 bridges on Kansas' local road systems. About 26% – or 5,000 – of those bridges are in poor condition or unable to meet today's weight and vehicle requirements. The KLBIP targets bridges 20-50 feet in length and a daily vehicle count of less than 100.

THE FOLLOWING ARE A FEW POINTS THAT PRESIDENT BIDEN AND THE WHITE HOUSE HAVE OFFERED REGARDING THE SOVIET UNION INVASION OF UKRAINE

- Vladimir Putin has chosen to launch a premeditated war of choice that will bring catastrophic loss of life and human suffering.

- Russia has violated the core principles that uphold global peace and security, seeking to change the borders of a sovereign country by force.

- The United States, along with its Allies and partners, is imposing severe and immediate economic costs on Russia.

- Our Allies in Europe and elsewhere are also imposing sanctions on Russia. Instead of dividing the U.S. from its Allies and partners, Russia's actions have united the world and further isolated it.

- To strengthen NATO and reassure our Allies, the President has also announced the deployment of additional U.S. military personnel to Europe.

- The President has made clear he will not send American soldiers to fight in Ukraine. But we will defend every inch of NATO territory, adhering to our sacred commitments.

IRS Free File Makes Filing for the First Time Easier

Many people will be filing federal tax returns for the first time this year. This includes people who don't normally file and now need to file a 2021 return to claim a recovery rebate credit or reconcile advance payments of the child tax credit. For these taxpayers, IRS Free File may be the perfect solution.

For eligible individuals who want to prepare their own taxes, IRS Free File features electronic tax preparation software providers. This program provides free tax preparation, free electronic filing and free direct deposit, which is the fastest way to get a refund. People can also directly access IRS Free File from their mobile device using the IRS2Go app.

The IRS Free File adjusted gross income limit for 2021 is $73,000 for families and individuals. This year, there are eight IRS Free File products in English and two in Spanish. Each provider sets additional eligibility requirements, generally based on age, state residency and income.

Taxpayers using IRS Free File for the first time will need a few things before starting:

- Their Social Security number.
- Their wage and income information. This is usually found on forms from their employer, such as Form W-2 and Form 1099.
- Verification they are not claimed as a dependent on any other return. For example, taxpayers whose parents are claiming them as a dependent may still file a separate tax return, but they cannot claim themselves as a dependent.
- Documentation for all tax credits and deductions. Keep in mind, with the current higher standard deduction, itemized deductions may not be necessary.
- Prior year adjusted gross income or self-select PIN. They need this information to validate and sign the tax return. This is required for all electronic tax returns as part of the user's electronic signature. Taxpayers who are first-time filers over the age of 16 can simply enter "0" as their prior-year income for signature purposes. For taxpayers who have filed before, their prior-year tax return will show their adjusted gross income.
- Bank account and routing number for direct deposit of any refund into their account. This is the fastest and safest way to get their money.

Taxpayers who must reconcile advance payments of the child tax credit or who are eligible for a recovery rebate credit will need certain letters they received from the IRS. Individuals will need to know the total amount of their third-round Economic Impact Payment, including any "plus-up" payments they received to determine their eligibility to claim a recovery rebate credit. They will also need the total amount of advance child tax credit payments they received to claim their full credit.

To find the total amounts of advance child tax credit payments and third Economic Impact Payments received, taxpayers can check:

- Online Account: Taxpayers can create or log in to their IRS Online Account to see the total amounts for these payments. For married individuals filing a joint return with their spouse, each spouse will need to log into their own Online Account or review their own letter for their portion of the couple's total payment.
- IRS letters: In late December 2021 and early January 2022, the IRS started sending the following letters to the address on record for applicable taxpayers:
  - Letter 6419, 2021 Advance CTC, went to individuals who received advance child tax credit payments. The letter contains the total payment amount that the individual needs to file accurately and avoid a processing delay.
  - Letter 6475, Your Third Economic Impact Payment, went to individuals who received a third Economic Impact Payment in 2021, including initial and "plus-up" payments. This letter will help them determine if they are eligible to claim the 2021 recovery rebate credit for a missing third payment. If so, they must file a 2021 tax return to claim this credit.

New Funding to Improve Community Health and Alleviate Poverty

Representative Sharice Davids announced that AmeriCorps awarded $689,595 to the United Government of Wyandotte County and Kansas City, KS (UG) to improve community health and strive to eliminate poverty by placing AmeriCorps VISTA members in the Kansas Third.

The 2021-2022 grant funding is the Unified Government's eighth year as an AmeriCorps grantee. During the initial grant funding in 2014, four AmeriCorps VISTA members served in the Mayor's office and since then the program has expanded to over 11 UG departments and nine community partner agency placements. With having over 90 individuals sworn into service since 2014, the UG is the largest AmeriCorps VISTA intermediary program in the state of Kansas.

"We thank Representative Davids and her office for the continued support and funding of the AmeriCorps VISTA program within the Unified Government," said Mayor Tyrone Garner. "The service of VISTA members brings great value to our UG departments and community organizations. Their skills not only directly benefit our organization but support community empowerment across Wyandotte County. I want to reiterate that the support of Congresswoman Sharice Davids is both valued and appreciated. Again, on behalf of Wyandotte County KCK, thank you Representative Davids."

With the additional funding support, the UG AmeriCorps VISTA program has been able to increase the number of available positions to allow for 35 year-round positions and 20 summer members to work full-time within various departments. The secured funding has also allowed for one additional full-time staffperson to be hired to assist with the VISTA program.

UG AmeriCorps VISTA members have served in various UG departments such as public health, the budget office, public works, and planning + urban design to name a few. VISTA members also serve in different roles in area organizations and provide direct support with the focus on community engagement, local health initiatives, neighborhood revitalization efforts and capacity building for organizations that support sustainable solutions to poverty in Wyandotte County. The majority of partner agency placement sites are located in Wyandotte County, but there are some sites that exist across county lines. Regardless of the site location all VISTA positions directly benefit Wyandotte County residents.

"The Unified Government is a proud AmeriCorps grantee. With the continued support from AmeriCorps and specifically the AmeriCorps North Central Regional Office, we have seen impacts in areas from community engagement and outreach to violence prevention and everything in between," said Alli Zuel, AmeriCorps Initiatives Supervisor, Unified Government Public Health Department. "We have had AmeriCorps members in our program coordinate 700+ volunteers in our COVID-19 vaccination clinics, support local organizations with programming and communications, and assist with the implementation of new programs all right here in WyCo. AmeriCorps members are helping us work towards a healthier and safer Wyandotte County."

Get Involved

The AmeriCorps VISTA program is always looking to engage citizens about the AmeriCorps VISTA service. There are currently about a dozen open positions the program is looking to fill and will begin recruiting for summer associate members soon.

Quotes To Ponder

By Tom Valverde

Tonight we've gathered in this sacred space; a citadel of Democracy, in this Capitol. Generations after generations, Americans have debated great questions and made great strides and have done great things.

We fought for freedom, expanded liberty, debated totalitarianism, and terror. We built the strongest, freest, and most prosperous nation the world has ever known.

Now, in this Hour, our moment of responsibility, our test of resolve and conscience; of history itself. It is in this moment that our character of this generation is formed and our purpose is found, our purpose is forged.

Well I know this nation. We'll meet the test, protect freedom and liberty, expand fairness and opportunity. And we will save Democracy.

As hard as times have been, I'm more optimistic about America today than I've been my in my whole life! Because I see the future that's within our grasp. Because I know that there's simply nothing that's beyond our capacity.

We're the only nation on earth that has always turned every crisis we've faced into opportunity! The only nation that can be described by a single word: "Possibilities."

So, on this night, on our 245th year as a nation, I've come to report on the state of the nation, the state of the Union, and my report is this: The state of the Union is strong because You the American people are strong. We're stronger today than we were a year ago and we'll be stronger a year from now than we are today. This is our moment to meet and overcome the challenges of our time and we will! As one people, one America, the United States of America.

God bless you all and may God protect our troops!. Thank you, go get him!

Joseph R. Biden,
46th President of the United States

Closing remarks from his first State of the Union address, March 1, 2022.

But, there's no one more emphatic than Joe Biden, there's no one that cares more! We are so blessed that he's President at this time, because we do have to build America better.

Nancy Pelosi,
Speaker of the House
Remarks made prior to the State of the Union speech.
